

12. (Amended) The method of claim 10 wherein a test compound is identified as a potential anti-cancer agent if it inhibits growth of the first cell line at least 5-fold more than the second cell line.

B2
13. (Amended) The method of claim 10 wherein a test compound is identified as a potential anti-cancer agent if it inhibits growth of the first cell line at least 10-fold more than the second cell line.

14. (Amended) The method of claim 10 wherein a test compound is identified as a potential anti-cancer agent if it inhibits growth of the first cell line at least 20-fold more than the second cell line.

15. (Amended) The method of claim 10 wherein a test compound is identified as a potential anti-cancer agent if it inhibits growth of the first cell line at least 50-fold more than the second cell line.

---

19. (New) The cell lines of claim 5 which are human cell lines.

B3
20. (New) The cell lines of claim 6 which are human cell lines.

21. (New) The cell lines of claim 7 which are human cell lines.

22. (New) The cell lines of claim 8 which are human cell lines.

23. (New) The method of claim 10 wherein the two isogenic cell lines are human cell lines.

---